EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SENTINEL.

Madison March 30 '55

I doubt not that our democratic member from the 3d ward, Mr O'Neill, feels that he is somewhat badly used in that the Sentinel holds him up as one who has supported Barstow and the Balance" in their various operations at the expense of the state He sits near my desk, and I have had good opportunity to notice his action, and I cheerfully bear witness to his—as I believe—conscientious votes upon nearly all occasions He is a democrat, and generally goes with his party but he has not identified himself with the "Balance" Hence I regret that, on a side issue, his vote was found in the wrong place on the Asylum Bill

It was Mr Moscowitz—not Mr Lewis—who spoke the other day, against the division of Milwaukee County

In Senate this morning, a resolution was introduced rescinding the one calling on the State Printer to furnish the Lunatic Asylum Report It was to have been laid on the desks last Monday but no copies have yet appeared It is now promised for to-morrow

Bill introduced

By Mr Harvey amending the law of '54 relative to Board of Equalization

By Mr Harvey amending the statute as to time of meeting of Legislature

The bill from the Assembly relative to the use of jails in Fugitive Slave cases, came up this morning Mr Harvey took ground against it, for the reason, as he stated, that the Supreme Court had placed the state in the right position, and that, if this bill was passed, the U S Government would go and furnish other places of imprisonment He was excused from voting, and then the Senate killed the bill by the following vote

AYES—Adams Bashford Chenet Giles Paddock Sherland Taylor, Wakely Worthington —9

NOES, Bowen, Cobb Dewey, Eldridge, Gibson, Hadley, Howell, Kelsey Loy McGarry Rolfe, —11

The list of bills passed is sent

In the afternoon, a joint Resolution was introduced by Mr Bowen, authorizing the State Prison Commissioners to sell his Treasury warrants and provide means for "running the machine"

Authorizing Societies in Milwaukee to take stock in Concert Hall

Charter of Milwaukee Fire Arms Manufacturing Company

Amending an act concerning Railroad Companies (Judges)

Providing for safe keeping of Legislative documents

Amending charter of Appleton,

The title of bills disposed of Mr Bashford presented the Report of a select committee appointed some weeks since to enquire into certain matters relating to the sales of school lands by the Commissioners, and other things cognate — The Committee have confined their attention to only three or four points,—to wit, to the famous Ludington purchase, to the sale of pine lands in Outagamie and Shawano counties, to the manner of leasing lands, and to the binding up and forfeiting, and afterwards entering the same at the appraised value

The Committee say but little, leaving the testimony of numerous witnesses to tell its own story They do, however, show very clearly that the Commissioners' excuse, of having no discretion is to selling the lands without requiring any of the principal to be paid down is without foundation The evidence shows that the whole affair of the Ludington purchase was one of the most remarkable performances in which State office seeker engaged, and contradicts the "official" statement made by the officers last summer—that large quantities of lands were bid off last year at prices considerably above the appraised value, while the same lands appear on the books as entered at $1 25 per acre, by the same persons who bid them off witnesses testifying that there was no re-sale,—or if there was a re-sale, it was a secret one The evidence also shows, among other things that in two cases citizens asked whether they could enter land by application to the Commissioners when abroad selling lands, and were told they could not, but must apply at Madison, while the Commissioners immediately allowed other citizens to enter the same land

These are some of the showings of his report, I trust that it will be published and read carefully by the people.

In Assembly.—The receipt of new business was cut off after 12 o'clock this day I think there is no doubt of a final adjournment on Monday next

Bills were introduced

By Mr Ribble charter of Horicon Academy

By Mr Vliet, amending charter of Mil & Horicon R R

By Mr Randall, for a Commission to Investigate Affairs of State (This is to provide for emergencies, and provides a Commission consisting of W A Prentiss, J S Baker, D J Powers, A Remington, and J. Allen Barber)

By Mr Goodall, to pay Chapleaus ($100)

By Mr. Tophff, for relief of John Smith. (If it were not for the well known difficulties under which this ubiquitous individual labors, I should suppose the bill a dead-beat)

Mr Chase asked leave to withdraw the bill for the division of Milwaukee Co, He said that he believed the bill a just one, but it was very late in the session, and he did not wish to occupy the time of the Assembly Leave was granted

A long list of bills passed

One bill providing for giving laborers on railroads a lien on the same, was debated at some length, being opposed as not securing what the laborers want, while it was very just to the railroad Companies. It was finally referred to a Committee with an amendment by Mr Hull

Messrs. Downs, Vliet, Goodrich, Allen, and Harrington, had leave of absence for the rest of the session (As I write, at ¼ to 4 P M, I see some of these gentlemen still in their seats.)

In the afternoon, he Senate bill appropriating $5000 to the Governor as a contingent fund for sundry State expenditures, came up. Mr. Randall moved to amend by making the sum $3000 He thought, from looking at the Report made by the Governor early in the session, that the amount would fully cover the necessary expenditure The amendment prevailed, 29 to 23, and then there was a move for reconsideration, and the bill was referred to the Committee on State Affairs

An Assembly bill, appropriating extra pay to clerks came back with a pile of amendments with more such appropriations, and then came the usual discussion, in which Messrs Hull and Stevens labored hard to pass the amendments, and all members who endeavored to regard the Constitution were scolded and laughed at, and appealed to by sympathy, to get them to concur in the amendment. The Assembly refused, 37 to 30—but of course the thing will worry its way through, it always does and probably always will

Mr O Neil, in the afternoon, reported back the bill for protection of laborers on railroads with a substitute providing that the railroad companies shall require bonds of their contractors for the safety of the laborers, and be responsible to the latter for the wages The bill passed

The bill allowing the Young Men's Association and the Musical Society to take stock in the Concert Hall enterprise, passed

A bill authorizing Ozaukee Co to purchase, and legalizing F M Rice's Abstract of Titles, failed by a vote of 30 to 31. Messrs Delany and Ramsey fought against and for it, "nip and tuck" and one of them had to come out ahead

The bill for a Committee to take a pleasant trip of investigation down to the hospitable quarters at Green Bay, admiring Fox River as they went, was killed, 16 to 46, members being unwilling to load themselves to the scheme of its originators That Company is doing a noble work, and carrying out in good faith—there is every reason to believe—the law of 1853, and no one has a right to cast a slur upon its operations, unt I just reason is given for suspicion.

This done, the Assembly adjourned

Several propositions were received from Mr Randall W H W

A New Issue in the Canvass.

The Staats Zeitung, a German paper published at Madison by our State Librarian, one of "the Balance," issues an extra on the eve of the Judicial Election designed to rally the voters of German birth en masse against Mr Cole and in favor of Judge Crawford Mr Cole is falsely represented as being a "Know Nothing" and truly charged with being a Temperance man, and on these two grounds the Germans are invoked to vote against Cole and for Crawford, the latter being specially commended to their support as "the enemy of the cold water Philistines" The hint too, is thrown out, that Crawford, if re-elected, will be all right in his opinions upon the Constitutionality of a Prohibitory Liquor Law, and the appeal concludes. "German Voters! It is a point of honor with you to support Mr Crawford with the greatest zeal!"

It is a new thing under an American sun to find temperance objected to as a qualification in a Judge And yet the Staats Zeitung makes war upon Mr Cole, and calls upon the "German Voters" of the state to oppose him, because he is a "cold water man!" We cannot believe that our German fellow-citizens will suffer themselves to be deluded by such miserable, paltry demagogueical appeals, into a clannish organization to oppose Mr Cole, or support Mr Crawford

The same extra of the Staats Zeitung, which indulges in this Know Nothing and Temperance blast against Mr. Cole publishes the following philippic against the Courier, the German Republican paper in this city —

MADISON, March 25, 1855.

Mr Domschen, Editor of the "Corser".

The undersigned, subscribers of your paper, have become persuaded that the "Corsar" fights with the Know Nothing and Temperance men, against the rights of foreign-born citizens and has degraded itself and become traitorous to the German citizens of Wisconsin A feeling of self-respect forces us to discontinue your sheet. You will, therefore, not trouble us farther with the "Corsar," and at the same time allow us to make you a present of the balance of our subscription, that it may be a means of improving you.

Most humbly,
R. BAUS,
PHILLIP SCHOEN
WEED & EBERHARD,
H LACHER & CO,
—— 81 RAUSS.

The 'Corsar," it is needless to say, is utterly opposed to the 'Know-Nothings" and is against the Maine Law Nevertheless it supports Mr Cole for Judge, and loses no opportunity of blowing up "Barstow and the Balance" and Slam Democracy Hence the official attempt to prosecute it. As the Madison Journal well says

The "Corsar" will not be injured by such unworthy means; but these attacks upon it will stimulate those friendly to the principles it advocates, to give it a hearty support

FOND DU LAC MUNICIPAL ELECTION.—The electors of Fond du Lac have put in nomination the following ticket

For Mayor, Mason C Darling City Treasurer, W A Dewey, City Marshal I B Bowen, City Clerk, Edward Brown, Supt of Schools, A W Paine.

Prepay your Postage!

The new Post Office Law went into effect on the 1st instant and all letter postage must now be paid in advance. Letters not thus pre-paid will not be forwarded at all Business men and letter-writers generally will do well to bear this fact in mind.

RIDING TWO HORSES.—The Mineral Point Tribune, published at the residence of Judge Crawford, and zealously supporting him for re election, in answer to the charge that he was opposed to the Maine Law, avers, of its own knowledge, that Judge Crawford is in favor of a Prohibitory Liquor Law, holds it to be constitutional and voted for its adoption. We do not doubt that such is the fact. And yet the Staats Zeitung and other German Hunker organs are preaching a crusade against Mr. Cole, as a Temperance man, and appealing to the "German Voters," as such, to vote for Mr. Crawford as the "enemy of the Cold Water Philistines!"

Greeley in Wisconsin.

Horace Greeley, who lectured at Madison, Mineral Point and other places during the month of March, writes back a graphic account of his journey, to the New York Tribune, under date of Dubuque, March 20 We make copious extracts from his letter

Madison has the most magnificent site of any inland town I ever saw, on a graceful swell of land, say two miles north and south by a mile and a half east and west, rising gently from the west bank of one of a chain of four lakes, and having another of them north-west of it. These lakes run each be eight or ten miles in circumference, half surrounded by dry, clean oak forests, or rather 'numbered openings," which need but little labor to convert them into the finest parks in which fair homes ever nestled A spacious Water-Cure establishment has just been erected in one of these forests, across the lake south easterly from Madison and shows finely both from the city and the railroad as you approach it. The Capitol is toward the south end of the built-up city, in a fine natural park of twenty acres, and is not worse planned than most of our public buildings The University crowns a beautiful eminence a mile west of the Capitol, with a main street connecting them a la Pennsylvania-avenue There are more comfortable private mansions now in progress in Madison than in any other place I have visited, and the owners are mostly recent immigrants of means and cultivation, from New England, from Cincinnati, and even from Europe Madison is growing very fast, and if she can be speedily and thoroughly rid of some barnacles that have fastened upon her—gamblers and such like vermin —she has a glorious career before her I beg her authorities to remember that "Righteousness exalteth a Nation"—and a city no less—and that every dollar that may be gained to either by the toleration of vicious haunts will cost her ten in money, and still more in character

I spoke two hours in the evening to the largest assemblage I had seen this winter out of the seaboard cities, and, having slept very little the night before, repaired soon to the friend's house at which I was staying, and before 11 o'clock was in the land of Nod I venture to say that not one other sleeper in Madison was making better time than I, when at 2 A. M. a slight tinkle of the door bell aroused me Though I could not that moment determine whether I was in America or Asia, at home, away lecturing or on some other vagrant errand, I knew instantly, instinctively, that that tinkle meant me, and nobody else It was the stage-coach summons to get ready, and twenty minutes thereafter I stepped out into as mean a snow-storm as I can remember, and was soon on my way to Mineral Point, 52 miles west by south of Madison.

* * * * With light, however, the pace improved, we stopped and warmed at the next post office, eight miles further, and at a little past nine we stopped for breakfast at "The Blue 'Mounds" twenty-five miles on our way, and said to be one of the highest points in Southern Wisconsin, and I think near the eastern verge of the Mineral region Here, Squire Brigham, a sturdy pioneer, from Berkshire County, Mass pitched his tent some thirty years ago, and here he still abides in hale and vigorous activity, a living proof of the salubrity of the climate and the healthfulness of an out-door life He might now choose a more luxurious home but he prefers this and wisely A little settlement is gradually growing up around him and but for the blighting influences of Land Speculation, he would soon be surrounded by a dense and thrifty population

We pushed on to Dodgeville twenty miles further by 2 o'clock P M, and there abandoned our stage-wagon which had ceased to be entertaining and chartered an open sleigh to take us on after dinner to Mineral Point which we reached just after 4P M The snow had ceased about 1 P M, but the wind had veered in the north-west, and blew shrewdly This last part of our way lay in part across a prairie, where the snow was considerably drifted I was not sorry to see the end of it

Dodgeville is a scattered village of some five hundred houses, the focus of practical mining operations and near the geographical center of Iowa County, though the County buildings are at Mineral Point, a smart village of nearly a thousand houses situated on the sides of two intersecting ravines and the level plain above. Mineral Point is probably the oldest considerable settlement in Wisconsin, the emporium of an extensive trade and evinces thrift and activity

I lectured here on very short notice in the evening (Saturday,) and talked Temperance to a crowded church—the largest in the place—on Sunday evening The day was cold but still and bright, and the snow wasted a little on the warmer slopes. I thought I had seen my worst of the journey, and made my arrangements to start next morning by private conveyance for Dubuque (41 miles) with a careless heart

But let no man boast of the morrow I was in the middle of my sleep when, at midnight, I heard the wolfish howl of the prairie-wind and knew at once that it was looking for me All the rest of the night it kept up its wild moan, and day broke sullenly on a driving snow storm, with the wind in the west I jumped into the cutter at 7½ o'clock, in defiance of confident predictions that I would not see Dubuque that day, but it was not till we rose the hill and debouched on the open plain that I fully realized the kind of day it was The first time we struck the prairie, my face took a south-eastward shoot on its own account, and would choose, who happened to be passing chused it instantly and smartly for at least eighty rods, till it brought up in the bushes to leeward Our shrewder horse decidedly objected to standing still on the prairie and taking the full force of the storm while the chase was proceeding, but there seemed to be no alternative My hatfull of litters and papers took a wide range, and are probably going yet

Nine miles from the Point, we stopped to water (in vain, for the snow blind animals refused to drink) and I improved the opportunity and cut myself up into a much more serviceable and satisfactory bundle—my hat under my feet and a warm blanket swathed around my head, and held by a large scarf around my neck To leeward, though cold, I suffered far less than I had previously done from the driving wind and snow The storm seemed to redouble its fury as we struck off across a wide prairie some twelve or fifteen miles on our journey Though the road is an important and much-traveled one, the newly fallen snow had been drifted so as to conceal all trace of it for a long distance while the blinding storm quite hid any landmarks that may ordinarily be visible, so that my experienced and sharp eyed guide was for a time completely at fault. After floundering on in doubt for some little time, a momentary lull showed a house and its surroundings not far ahead of us, but these were again obscured while we were within a dozen rods of them, and it was some time before we could make them out again. By their help, we recovered the trail, and, pushing steadily on, at twenty-five miles from Mineral Point found, at noon, the stage which had started twelve hours before from Galena, fifteen miles below, but had stopped here, unharnessed and given it up.

Three miles further on we stopped to rest and rub off our brave horses, now nearly covered with snow, and here we found another Galena stage, which had left that city in the morning, got a mile and a half beyond the point (thirteen and a half miles in all,) tipped over with its nine passengers, (three of them ladies—one considerably hurt,) righted up again, and finally turned back and put up—the driver asserting that he could not, in the absence of any track, make out his course on the prairie, though the road was one he traveled every day We left the stage and its party here at 2 P M, when we started again, after dinner, and soon struck across from the Mineral Point road to Galena, to the Dubuque road from the latter city, which we struck just south of Smallpox Mound, where the Catholics have a college, church, and hamlet. This mound, or natural elevation, can be seen for a long distance on the prairie, and, though scarcely a mile from the Mississippi, is one of the highest points for many miles away. As the storm had now ceased, though the wind was still strong and bitter, we kept the mound generally in sight, and found the cross-roads much better than the teams are storm-stayed at the "Twelve Mile House" had led us to expect Once we missed a turn and went half a mile wrong, but that was the fault of our own stupidity, for which we blamed no one else.

The "sucker-holes" (miners' excavations) into which we were told that we could hardly fail to drive, troubled us very little. And decidedly the worst bit of road we found that day was our ten miles of the great highway from Galena to Dubuque. This passes up the Mississippi, some mile or two from its bank, over a broken, hilly, thinly wooded country, and here no snow had fallen this day, while the previous snow in the track had been trodden into ruts, deep mire, rendering it necessary to multiply the length of the route by the depth in order to determine the actual distance especially on runners. Nevertheless, we crawled along, and at a little past four I stood for the first time beside the Father of Waters, covered with thick but not sound ice for a long distance below, as well as all the way above, and showing a strong, dark current for the few rods that the Steam Ferry had cleared. The ferry boat had to be cut out of the drift and fresh ice on the Dubuque side before starting that day, and had not yet touched the Illinois shore for the first time when we came down. By five o'clock I was in Iowa, snugly quartered at the "Julien House," ready to lecture, rather heavily in the evening, and now, should any friend ever find himself near Mineral Point, but anxious to be somewhere else immediately, I most heartily commend to him the livery establishment of Charlie Cox, with the owner as propeller If he and his teams cannot take you through in season, there is no use in trying.

Last Illness of Czar Nicholas.

It appears that the Emperor first complained of oppression of the head and chest He had before been subject to such a feeling His physicians were immediately called, and their experienced eyes foresaw that this attack was likely to be his last.

They had indeed been attending him, during some days, for an attack of influenza, to which some slight symptoms of pulmonary affections had supervened From the first moment of his final seizure they held out no hopes of recovery the rapid progress of the ailment is shown in the following bulletins:

[From the Prussian State Anzeiger of March 31]

St Petersburgh March 1st. }
Winter Palace 1 25 A M. }

"The state of the Emperor became much worse yesterday evening. Violent fever manifested itself with inflammation of the lungs. The fever had lasted during the whole night and prevented sleep. Ejection continues without obstacle — A slight attack of gout is observable The debility of the august invalid has greatly increased and, at least in the opinion of physicians, the state of his majesty is most critical"

The Emperor continued to get rapidly worse brough the day

St Petersburgh, March 1, 10 P M

"The Emperor has declined receiving the last sacraments at present The ceremony is adjourned till to-morrow morning The Emperor only sees the Empress and the grand duke Hereditary. The Empress is aware of the danger, and begs me to inform his majesty the King hereof, and to communicate it also to her august relations and to Strelitz"

St Petersburgh, March 2 6 A M

"The Emperor has calmly received from Mr Mandt the communication that atrophy of the lungs is probable He only observed, "And when shall I become paralyzed?" The physicians did not give a precise answer The Emperor then said to Dr. Carrell—' When shall I take?" The Emperor has taken the last sacraments

"He has taken leave of his wife and children, whom he blessed separately—as also his grandchildren—in a firm voice, in full possession of his intellect, perfectly calm, and with great presence of mind His pulse is still strong, but weak has already been administered, The Empress keeps up, and shows resignation"

Six hours after the date of the above that is to say shortly after noon of Friday, March the 2d, is expired The Emperor's last words were spoken in the French language Addressing the Empress, he said 'Tell Frederick (the King of Prussia) to continue attached to Russia, as he has hitherto been, and never to forget his father's words"

The Journal des debats says "The Emperor Nicholas has not died suddenly, he had been ill for twelve days before We have before us letters from St Petersburgh of the 19 ultimo which state that the Emperor then kept his bed by order of his first physician, M. Mandt The Empress was also ill, and confined to her bed, and as the apartments occupied by the Emperor and Empress are situated one on the ground floor and the other on the first floor of the palace, they had no direct communication, and did not see each other The Emperor, however, must have called the Empress to him as we know, from a telegraphic dispatch, that before his death he had assembled round him all the members of his family present at St. Petersburgh, in order to give his blessing

Our correspondents attribute the illness of the Emperor to a cold Notwithstanding the severity of the weather, he continued his usual occupations, he was desirous to see everything for himself, and in the most minute details, he visited the soldiers in their barracks, he passed long and frequent reviews, forgetting the precautions which his age required in such a climate and in such a severe season To all the observations made to him by his children and by his most devoted servants he replied that he had some thing else to do besides taking care of his health He had, however, attended to it for more than a year past, and of late with success

"He said that he had reached and even exceeded the number of years which God had allowed to others of his race, and that his end was not far distant. He had treated himself according to his own ideas, he had insisted on his physician putting him on a regimen which would prevent his getting corpulent, of which he had a singular dread. What change has taken place since the 19th February? It is said he had an attack of apoplexy or of paralysis of the lungs This was a thing which Dr Mandt had not anticipated, for at that time he felt no alarm, and his language was most satisfactory The Emperor Nicholas was, moreover, subject to attacks of gout, and at the commencement of his illness he had felt some symptoms of it."

Scarcely had authenticated intelligence reached England that Nicholas was seriously indisposed, when a second despatch announced that he was dead The first notification was telegraphed from Berlin, by Lord John Russell, and stated that Emperor had been suddenly attacked by a fit of an apoplectic nature that he had been given over by his physicians, and had calmly taken leave of his family in view of his approaching end Three hours afterwards dispatches reached Paris stating that at noon of the same day the Czar Nicholas expired

HORRIBLE AFFAIR.—A friend has furnished us with the particulars of a most horrible affair which occured at Maple Grove on the night of Wednesday last.

An insane man named Stieber residing at the house of a Mr Fred Hartman, during a paroxism of his disease insisted upon removing his bed to the cellar, to escape as he said from the devils which were pursuing him He took a pitchfork and a sharp knife with him and the family retired for the night.

In the night Mr Hartman was wakened by a noise in the cellar and sprung from his bed to learn the cause. As soon as he reached the cellar the pitchfork was thrust into his breast, piercing the lungs, as he fell to the floor his assailant sprang upon him with the knife He was terribly cut but was still living at last accounts though not expected to survive. His wife hearing his shrieks of distress, went to his assistance, and the knife was buried to the hilt in her back, near the shoulder blade. The wound though severe is not dangerous. Stieber escaped and has not since been heard from. Doct Kellogg dressed his wound, but he twice tore away the dressings and Doct Ke opinion would justify the supposition that he has perished —[Manitowoc Tribune.

SUICIDE OF A DUELIST.—Col. Alexander K McClung committed suicide at Jackson, Miss., on the 24th inst He was the son of Judge McClung of Ky., and a nephew of Chief Justice Marshall He was a lawyer of some distinction, but more known to the public as a duelist, having killed his antagonists in two or three instances, and been shot, run through and otherwise wounded on various occasions. The Louisville Courier gives some of the later incidents of his career

When the war with Mexico was declared, he volunteered and was appointed Lieutenant Colonel in the Mississippi Rifles At Monterey, he gallantly distinguished himself, by his undaunted courage, being the first person to scale the Mexican rampart and plant the star spangled banner upon the heights of the enemy. While engaged in the perilous feat, he was shot through and through, and from those wounds he never fully recovered. After General Taylor's accession to the Presidency, Col McClung was appointed a minister to one of the South American States — Returning from this mission, he visited the home of his birth and childhood for the last time, broken down in health and a prey to remorse.

THE VOICE OF MILWAUKEE.—We call attention to the proceedings of the large and enthusiastic meeting at Milwaukee, in celebration of the 9 gallon liquor law. The Sentinel is exceedingly "wormy" on the subject, as it well might be, when denounced by the united public sentiment of the very town where it is published.—[Madison Democrat.

The organ of "Barstow and the Balance" is slightly mistaken. So far from being "denounced," the Sentinel is triumphantly sustained in its course on the Prohibitory Liquor Law by pretty much all the "public sentiment" in Milwaukee that is worth having.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A lad 19 years old, by the name of Butler, was accidentally shot on Saturday last by a young man named Powell, about four miles from this city. The particulars of this sad affair are as follows: Powell had been out hunting in the afternoon and in returning stopped at the barn where young Butler was engaged taking care of the stock, when both of the young men started for the house. Mr. Powell put the gun upon his shoulder, breech up, and in passing under a shed the lock caught and pulled it back so as to cause a discharge, sending the whole contents of the fowling piece into the body of young Butler who was just in advance, killing almost instantly. —[Fond du Lac Union,

NATIONAL LOAN FUND LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, LONDON.

CAPITAL, - - - $2,500,000.

Guarantee Fund, $100,000, Deposited with the Comptroller of the State of New York.

The advantages offered by this Company are many, and the public are invited to call upon the Agent and make themselves acquainted with the system adopted by the Company, when they will be better able to decide whether life insurance is desirable or not, and at what Office it is to their interest to insure.

The many reasons why Fire and Marine Insurance should be negotiated, are incontrovertible; and Life Insurance, while it in no way interferes with, or undervalues these important considerations, has claims which no other system of insurance can have. Human existence must be considered, only a much higher estimate than merely property.

While the representative of a family lives, (although, through neglect or loss of his property, he becomes bankrupt,) he supports himself; but at his death, decline their means of support, unless he has saved them from ruin by an insurance on his life, which may be done by the payment of a small annual premium, the payments of which need not be missed in his own weekly or monthly earnings.

If young, the annual payment will be light, and if insurer old with profits, the policy will be constantly growing more valuable, though the premium is not increased.

Clergymen and others who have a stated and regular income, should insure, well knowing that, at their death their families may be left destitute.

Men engaged in more dangerous pursuits than ordinary trades and callings, should insure.

Tradesmen who has still a mortgage on his farm, should insure, or lessen the extent of it, thereby enabling his families pay off the debt in case of his death.

Arrival of the Steamship

ASIA.

Later from the Seat of War!

WARLIKE DEMONSTRATIONS!

Slight Advance in Breadstuffs Reported.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE SENTINEL.]

Halifax, March 29.

The Cunard steamship Asia, from Liverpool, en route for Boston, arrived here last night.

The Allies have re-opened fire upon Sebastopol.

The new Czar is considered favorable to an energetic prosecution of the war.

No event of striking importance has occurred.

Public attention has generally centered in the doings of the Vienna Conference, which was formally Inaugurated on the 15th of March. Hopes and fears were about equally balanced, as to the probability of Peace resulting from the Conference.

From the seat of war the most important statement is that the Allies have re-opened fire on Sebastopol, with good effect.

The Roebuck committee was still prosecuting its enquiries into the conduct of the war.

A manifesto from the new Emperor of Russia to his army is interpreted as a warlike demonstration.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE:—The Liverpool Cotton market exhibits considerable animation, but a general decline upon the quotations of the ATLANTIC reaching in some cases, ⅛ penny per pound—sales being for the week 62,000 bales.

The market for breadstuffs was firm and prices had slightly advanced. Indian Corn, however, was quiet at almost previous rates. The circular of Wilby, Evans and Lempriere quoted Western Canal flour 49s 3d per bbl. White Corn 43 shil. and Yellow 42 and a half.

In provisions no change of importance had occurred. Lard was very depressed at much lower figures.

The London money market was growing easier, and consols remained steady at 93¾.

Further by the Asia.

Halifax, March 30.

The Asia arrived at 9½ o'clock last night.

The manifesto issued by the new Emperor of Russia is of an inspiring character, referring to the endeavor of his father to improve the condition of the troops, and declaring his adherence to his father's plans in this respect, and to the largest extent. The manifesto concludes: "may the sacred memory of Nicholas survive in our ranks, and for the glory of Russia."

VIENNA.—Rumors and statements as to the last moments of NICHOLAS are in circulation. Among them, one that he had advised Alexander to make peace even at the sacrifice of Russian influence, in the Black Sea, as the (Nicholas) had not believed in the Anglo-French alliance. This is regarded as doubtful. The Vienna conference formally met on the 15 of March. There were present one French, two English, two Austrian and two Turkish representatives. The Russian plenipotentiary was absent. The discussion on the general basis of negotiation terminated satisfactorily, and the Russian representative accepted verbally the interpretation of the Allies. Rumors are current that England and Austria would be content without a demolition of Sebastopol.—Napoleon absolutely insists on that condition.

PRUSSIA.—The mission of Gen. Waddell to France completely failed. Prussia refuses to accede to the treaty of the allies, and will not therefore be permitted to participate in the conference.

The latest dates from Sebastopol are to the 8th inst. The allies had re-opened their fire on the town with good effect. The weather was cool and fine, and the beach in the troops improving.

FURTHER ADVICES of the ASSAULT of the 24TH.—Russian redoubts by the French show that they were taken and blown up by French brigade. The French loss was 100 killed, and 300 wounded. The Russians were fortifying the valley of Inkermann.

A French despatch says the siege works are progression with the greatest celerity.

The reported death of the Grand Duke Michael was false. He and his brother han left the Crimea for St. Petersburgh. Menschikoff had gone to Moscow. Gen. Ostensacken was in command at Sebastopol.

The Roebuc committee was continuing its examination into the war, eliciting evidence of the worst mismanagement.

Parliamentary proceedings unimportant.

The Emperor Napoleon's visit to the Crimea is doubtful as ever. The charge against Gen Forey, (a French officer) of corresponding with the enemy at Sebastopol, is denied by the Moniteur, but Forey is recalled.

The Belgian Ministerial crisis continued. The Spanish Cortes have had the Cuban affair brought before them, and a communication from Gen. Concha to make liberal concessions to the Cubans, was received.

GERMANY.—A new Bavarian Loan of 5,500,000 thalers is announced.

Philadelphia, March 30.

SCALDED.—The express train which left Pittsburgh on Wednesday evening, ran against a rock which had fallen against the track east of Altoona. The engine and tender, baggage car and passenger car were thrown off the track, overturning and completely destroying the engine. The engineer, fireman and brakesman, were severely scalded—12 passengers were slightly scalded, and the train delayed four hours.

New York, March 30.

CUBA.—The steamship Philadelphia arrived here last night, with Havana dates to the evening of the 23d, anticipated by the Crescent City at New Orleans. Pinto was finished instantly. His last words were "Friends I die innocent—I am a Spaniard." Mr. Thompson, U. S. Vice consul, has been granted permission to return to his home. Upon the occasion of the firing on the steamer ElDorado, the second time the Spanish frigate was some four miles off, and as her shot did not come within a mile and a half of the Eldorado, she kept on her way and paid no attention to the frigates. It was reported that Concha had resigned, and Gen. O'Donnell was to succeed him.

THE RAPPINGS on ROMANISM.—One of the Philadelphia papers, having appealed to the spiritual mediums to resolve the doubts prevailing in regard to the Czar's death, has received a number of communications, most of them confirming the news of the imperial demise. Some of the communications are sufficiently curious. The Emperor Napoleon (the dead one) rapped with great delight that the Czar has arrived, and concludes with "Huzza! God save liberty and my country; The deceased Nicholas comes to the rescue, and declares that everything is correct he is as dead as a door-nail, having been poisoned, of course, by a noble. He also declares for the express benefit of the New York editors, that his son Constantine will be Emperor. Another medium declares that Nicholas is not dead, but has fallen into a trance, from which he will not arise until the effect in London of his death shall be announced in St. Petersburg; in short, like the cat in the fable, he has rolled himself in meal, and hung himself up to bamboozle the rats. Old Paul says that the Czar is not dead, and that the report is a stock jobbing operation. Sir Arnaud shrugs his shoulders, as well as a shoulderless spirit can, and raps:—"Nicolas est mort. C'est mauvais sujet, ce Mons. Nicolas! Mais il est mort." This communication is decidedly cool in another respect, for it adds, "Sebastopol est pris," which is a piece of information at once pleasant and long expected.—[Boston Atlas.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R. GRAIN WAREHOUSE.—The Illinois Central Rail Road Company have commenced the erection of their monster grain warehouse east of the dock owned by them near the piers. It will be two hundred feet long by one hundred in breadth. It will have a capacity for the storage of 600,000 bushels of grain. It will be equipped with twelve elevators, which will enable twelve railroad cars to be unloaded and three vessels to be filled with grain, at once and the same time. The foundation piles are already in their places. The building will be the largest grain warehouse in the United States.

The engine will be constructed by Mr. C. P. Moses of this city; and the machinery for elevating by Mr. J. W. Cobb. The framing, bins, &c., will be under the immediate superintendence of Mr. Alexander Miller, whose work in this line is not surpassed.—[Chicago Democrat.

ONE YEAR AGO.—Our paper of March 23d, 1854, has the following:

"Our street have now been sometime settled and smooth, and the pleasant weather we are to yield assurance that spring is a fixed fact. Farmers hereabouts have plowed considerable within the fortnight past, and in some fields the spring wheat is already up."

At the present writing, Wednesday morning, March 27th, the ground is frozen hard and covered with snow. The farmers in this vicinity have for some weeks been scouring up their old plows and buying new ones—all impatient to prove their faith in the Gospel of harvests by their works.—[Beloit Journal.

The advantages offered by this Company are many, and the public are invited to call upon the Agent and make themselves acquainted with the System adopted by the Company, where they will be better able to decide whether this Insurance is desirable or not, and at what Office it is to be effected.

The many reasons why Fire and Marine Insurance should be sought, are incontrovertible; and Life Insurance, whilst it in no way interferes with, or underrates those important matters, claims which no other system of insurance can have. Human existence must go considerations, only a much higher estimation than usually prospers.

While the representative of a family lives, (although through neglect to insure his property, he becomes bankrupt,) he supports his family; but at his death, decease their means of support, unless he has saved them from want by assurance on his life, which may be done by the payment of a small annual premium, the payment of which does not diminish his own weekly or monthly earnings.

If young, the annual payment will be light, and if insurance effects profits, hopefully will the constantly growing amount of the profits, be no sense is not increased.

Clergymen and others who have a stated and regular income, should consider, well knowing that, at their death their families may be left destitute.

Merchants engaged in more or less mercantile pursuits should insure to a greater or less extent, as may be their business, as it is for the interest of it, thereby enabling his families pay off his debts in case of his death.

Arrival of the Steamship

ASIA.

Later from the Seat of War!

WARLIKE DEMONSTRATIONS!

Slight Advance in Breadstuffs Reported.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE SENTINEL.]

Halifax, March 29.

The Cunard steamship Asia, from Liverpool en route for Boston, arrived here last night.

The Allies have re-opened fire upon Sebastopol. The new Czar is considered favorable to an energetic prosecution of the war.

No event of striking importance has occurred.

Public attention has generally centered in the doings of the Vienna Conference, which was formally Inaugurated on the 15th of March. Hopes and fears were almost equally balanced, as to the probability of Peace resulting from the Conference.

From the seat of war the most important statement is that the Allies have re-opened fire on Sebastopol, with good effect.

The Roebuck committee was still prosecuting its enquiries into the conduct of the war.

A manifesto from the new Emperor of Russia to his army is interpreted as a warlike demonstration

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE:—The Liverpool Cotton market exhibits considerable animation, but a general decline upon the quotations of the ATLANTIC reaching in some cases; ⅛ penny per pound—sales being for the week 62,000 bales.

The market for breadstuffs was firm and prices had slightly advanced. Indian Corn, however, was quiet at almost previous rates. The circular of Willy, Evans and Lemprier quoted Western Canal flour 42s.3d per bbl. White Corn 43 shil. and Yellow 42 and a half.

In provisions no change of importance had occurred. Lard was very depressed at much lower figures.

The London money market was growing easier, and consols remained steady at 93¼.

Further by the Asia.

Halifax, March 30.

The Asia arrived at 9½ o'clock last night.

The manifesto issued by the new Emperor of Russia is of an inspiring character, referring to the endeavor of his father to improve the condition of the troops, and declaring his adherence to his father's plans in this respect, and to the largest extent. The manifesto concludes: "may the sacred memory of Nicholas survive in our ranks, and for the glory of Russia."

VIENNA.—Rumors and statements as to the last moments of Nicholas are in circulation. Among them, a report that Alexander consulted on peace even at the sacrifice of Russian influence, in the Black Sea, as he (Nicholas) had not believed in the Anglo-French alliance. This is regarded as doubtful. The Vienna conference formally met on the 15 of March. There were present one French, two English, two Austrians and two Turkish representatives. The Russian plenipotentiary was absent. The discussion on the general basis of negotiation terminated satisfactorily, and the Russian representative accepted verbally the interpretation of the Allies. Rumors are current that England and Austria would be content with the demolition of Sebastopol.—Napoleon absolutely insists on that condition.

PRUSSIA.—The mission of Gen. Waddell to France completely failed. Prussia refuses to accede to the terms of the allies, and will not there fore be permitted to participate in the conference.

The latest dates from Sebastopol are to the 8th inst. The allies had re-opened their fire on the town with good effect. The weather was cool and fine, and the freight of the troops improving.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE ASSAULT OF THE 2ND.—Russian redoubts by the French show that they were taken and blown up by French brigade. The French loss was 100 killed, and 300 wounded. The Russians were fortifying the valley of Inkermann.

A French despatch says the siege works are progressing with the greatest celerity.

The reported death of the Grand Duke Michael was false. He and his brother have left the Crimea for St. Petersburgh. Menschikoff had gone to Moscow. Gen. Gotenschaken was to command at Sebastopol.

The Roebuck committee was continuing its examination into the war, eliciting evidence of the worst mismanagement.

Parliamentary proceedings unimportant.

The Emperor Napoleon's visit to the Crimea is doubtful as ever. The charge against General Forey, (a French officer) of corresponding with the enemy at Sebastopol, is denied by the Monteur, but Forey is recalled.

The Belgian Ministerial crisis is continued. The Spanish Cortes have had the Cuban affair brought before them, and a commission from Gen. Concha to make liberal concessions to the Cubans, was received.

GERMANY.—A new Bavarian Loan of 5,500,000 thalers is announced.

Philadelphia, March 30.

SCALPER.—The express train which left Pittsburgh on Wednesday evening, ran against a rock which had fallen against the track east of Altoona. The engine and tender, baggage car and passenger car were thrown off the track, overturning and completely destroying the engine. The engineer, fireman and brakeman, were severely scalded—12 passengers were slightly scalded, and the train delayed four hours.

New York, March 30.

CUBA.—The steamship Philadelphia arrived here last night, with Havana dates to the evening of the 23d, anticipated by the Crescent City at New Orleans. Pinto was hisfate ironically. His last words were "Friends I die innocent—I am a Spaniard." Mr. Thompson, U. S. Vice consul, has been granted permission to return to his home. Upon the occasion of the firing on the steamer ElDorado, the second time the Spanish frigate was some four miles off, and as her shot did not come within a mile and a half of the Eldorado, she kept on her way and paid no attention to the frigate. It was reported that Concha had resigned, and Gen. O'Donnell was to succeed him.

THE RAPPINGS ON ROMANOFF.—One of the Philadelphia papers, having appealed to the spiritual mediums to resolve the double prevailing in regard to the Czar's death, has received a number of communications, most of them confirming the news of the imperial demise. Some of the communications are sufficiently curious. The Emperor Napoleon (the dead one) raps with great delight that the Czar has arrived, and excludes Queen Victoria, Prince Albert and Charles Napoleon, amounting to one hundred dollars. Now, unless you shall appear before Albert Smith, a Justice of the Peace in and for said county, at his office in said City, on the 4th day of April, A. D. 1855, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, judgment will be rendered against you, and your property sold to pay the debt.
Dated this 12th day of March, A. D. 1855.
